

Homelessness in the United States is a significant social problem, but there are ways we can understand the issue more deeply. There are approaches that have worked and are working to get individuals and families into permanent housing. In this course, we will explore experiences and public perceptions of homelessness and how policymakers have responded.

HOMELESSNESS IN OUR COMMUNITY

HNRS 2020

Spring 2021 • T/Th 10:30-11:50 pm • 100% online

This course is led by Dr. Kerri Tobin,
Associate Professor of Education
For more information, email ktobin@lsu.edu